Rural Residential Category

- Areas mostly outside the Urban Service Area and contains significant undeveloped areas
- Provides for single family residences on individual large lots (3 acres or larger)
- Highway N Corridor identified as high growth area through 2030
- Acts as buffer to the higher density development to the north and helps preserve larger lot development and agricultural land uses to south
Rural Residential Category

Development should minimize impact on natural areas and on nearby farming and agricultural operations.

- Minimize cut and fill for roads and site grading.
- Steer development away from geologic features, such as rock outcroppings or steep slopes.
- Use appropriate setbacks and placement of structures that are compatible with adjacent agricultural activities.
- Incorporate wildlife friendly fencing or “rural” open fencing rather than solid fencing.
